Dear Doctors,

The theme for W.H.O. World Health Day 2009 is "MAKING HEALTH FACILITIES MORE RESPONSIVE TO EMERGENCIES." Thus we thought that it is prudent to organize a CME/Seminar on emergencies in clinical medicine. This would be of immense benefit to budding graduates, post graduates, staff of this institute and medical practitioners in and around the Pravara Institute of Medical Sciences, our prestigious tertiary care institute. This institution is a unique one, looking after the need of over 500 villages around and it is our rural flock that are denied even the routine medical care, more so in emergencies. Consultants from Nashik, Pune and other cities, experts in their own subjects will be dealing with such common medical emergencies which we face like poisonings, snake bites, scorpion stings, Leptospirosis and other critical conditions such as ARDS, bleeding disorders, etc. We will also have a chance to interact with experts, thus making us more confident and competent to deal with these emergencies.
